

Morning all,

Colleges are going to provide resources and reading material so that you can get a head start on your learning before September. This should also give you something productive to do and help keep you motivated.

SJR - have already sent information out about this and if you have applied there you can gain additional information via their website or you can contact them via newstudents@sjr.ac.uk

Runshaw - subject tutors are advising students to start reading around the subjects they are interested in studying by looking at specifications. If you want to contact them they can advise you on which exam boards they use. <https://www.runshaw.ac.uk/the-college/contact-us/>

If you don't get a response in a few days, let me know and I will email to try and get different contact details.

Newman - if you haven't had an interview yet these will be done over the phone. They will be in touch. They are currently putting together some resources for students to work through in preparation for September. I will let you know when these become available.

Wigan and Leigh - they are updating resources that you would usually receive on 'new student day' and they will be available soon.

Bolton College - if you have applied here and need some information - info@boltoncc.ac.uk will take you to a 'live chat' page.

Apprenticeships - you may want to contact your provider to see if there is anything you can be doing. If it is through a college then contact them and ask the same question.

Let me know if you need any information about a college I haven't mentioned and I will try and find out for you. Looking on their websites would be a good place to start and you will find additional information on there. Begin some research into the subjects you are choosing next year.

Colleges do not know how enrolment will work until a decision has been made about GCSEs and how you will receive your grades. I will keep you updated with any new information as it comes.

Just send me a message if you need any further guidance.

Stay safe and indoors!

Miss Wallace
